

Annual Honors Convocation

Recognition of Lycoming College students for academic excellence, athletic achievement and campus leadership featured the 27th Annual Honors Convocation held Wednesday night, April 13, in Clarke Chapel.

One of Lycoming's most distinctive honors, the Chieftain Award, went to PATRICK J. CERILLO, a senior from North Plainfield, N.J. The award goes annually to that student who, in the opinion of the students and faculty "has contributed the most to Lycoming College through support of school activities; has exhibited outstanding constructive leadership qualities; who has worked efficiently and effectively with the members of the college community; who has evidenced a good moral code, and whose academic rank is in the upper half of the class."

Dr. Frederick E. Blumer, president of Lycoming, presented the Chieftain Award to Cerillo and enumerated the many activities of the recipient during his four years at Lycoming.

The top awards for athletic achievement went to two seniors, RANDALL O. PARSONS, of Camp Hill, and LYNN S. MARTIN, of Cherry Hill, N.J. Parsons received the Tomahawk Award for his outstanding athletic ability and Miss Martin was awarded the Pocahontas Award for participation in swimming. Parsons was a three-letter winner in football, wrestling and track during all four years at Lycoming, a feat seldom achieved by collegiate athletes.

JAMES A. DIMARCO, a junior from Haverstown and a member of the basketball team since a freshman, was given the Sol (Woody) Wolfe Award for "superior-sports achievement," and DEBORAH A. STITES, a junior from Flemington, N.J., was named "The Outstanding Woman of the Year" by the Women's Athletic Association.

Seven students were tapped for membership in Iruksa, the society organized on the campus in 1954 to recognize "Warriors who win high honors." They include MERTHYN R. HARRIS, of North Wales; BARBARA S. LYNCH, of Dallas, Pa.; LINDA S. PORR, of New Cumberland; NANCY J. SCHADLER, of Bristol; MICHAEL P. STRAKA, of 1111 Park Avenue, Williamsport; DAVID K. STRATTON, of Berkeley Heights, N.J., and LAURA M. COOHLAN, of Westwood, N.J. All are juniors except Miss Coghlan, who is a sophomore, and Stratton, who is a senior.

Phil Gillette Foreign Language Awards went to CARL P. BEARD, a senior from Middletown, German; MARTIN E. GILBODY, a special foreign language student, of 505 North Crier Street, Williamsport, Russian; ROBIN J. NEWMAN, a sophomore from Gettysburg, French, and LINDA M. PETTIT, a senior from Mountain Top, Spanish.

Unsung Heroes and Heroines Awards for "behind-the-scenes" participation in school

RACHEL D. HARLAN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Harlan of Manchester, Maine, accepts from President Blumer her nomination for a Truman Scholarship. Rachel, a sophomore majoring in political science at Lycoming, is one of the first students to be so honored. Truman Scholarships will be awarded this year for the first time. One college student from each of the 50 states will be selected in recognition of their academic performance and commitment to government service.

Robert H. Ewing Lecture

Dr. Oron J. Hale, professor emeritus of history at the University of Virginia and a former U.S. commissioner in Germany after World War II, discussed "Administration of Occupied Territories after World War II" at the fourth annual Robert H. Ewing Lecture recently in the Lycoming College Academic Center.

Dr. Hale explained that the United States faced many difficulties in preparing to supervise occupied land. "It was a new experience for us, and the methods of dealing with the people of a defeated nation seemed insurmountable." He added that to both Japan and Germany it was decided that the basic institutions of the people must be left intact, and that forced reforms would only bring chaos. "There was no need to punish these people. They had already been punished with death and destruction," said Dr. Hale.

He explained that residents of the two countries had to be given sovereignty and restoration of pride to assure return to normalcy. "With the help of improved school systems, trade unions, collective bargaining, and a new sense of hope, the people of Germany and Japan have written a good chapter of themselves which still reads well today," Dr. Hale concluded.

Lycofund Goal: $100,000

The 1977 Lycoming College Fund goal has been set at $100,000. Between now and the end of December we'll be telling you more about the fund, its importance to the College and the necessity of your participation. That fund is open for business and all checks will be gratefully received.

CAMPUS NOTES

Two members of the sociology/anthropology department have been chosen by the National Endowment for the Humanities to participate in eight-week seminars this summer.

STANLEY WILK, assistant professor and chairman of the department, will be going to the University of California, Santa Barbara. That seminar will be devoted to "The Historical and Theoretical Development of Religious Studies."

LARRY R. STRAUSSER, instructor, will be attending the seminar on "Crime and Punishment in America" at the University of Virginia.

The eight-week seminars, to be attended by faculty members from colleges and universities throughout the United States, will be designed to enhance the knowledge of subjects taught by the participants, who are chosen on the basis of both their ability and commitment as college instructors; their conception, definition and organization of proposed programs of personal study, and for their potential contributions to the seminar.

BRUCE L. KEPHART, '78, chemistry major, has been appointed to the Fall 1977 Undergraduate Research Participation Program at Argonne National Laboratory. His research project will be "Studies of Inorganic and Coordination Compounds by Molecular Spectroscopy."

LINDA PORR and WILLIAM CONROY are the 1976-77 recipients of the Political Science Department's Junior Book Award. This award is designated for "the outstanding major in the Junior class." This year two awards are being given because of a tie between the two top candidates.

ERNEST GIGLIO, political science department, participated as a discussant in the Third Annual Political Science Symposium sponsored by the Political Science Departments of Bucknell, Lycoming, and Susquehanna. This year it was held at Susquehanna University Tuesday evening, April 5; the topic was "Liberalism and the Crisis of American Democracy."

K. BRUCE SHERBINE, biology department, and Mrs. Sherbine have been appointed to six-year terms to the prestigious Danforth Associate Program, effective June 1. Dr. and Mrs. Sherbine are two of 450 new associates from colleges and universities throughout the United States named this year to the program, which is designed to recognize effective teachers and to encourage activities which humanize teaching and learning for members of the campus community. Major criteria in selecting associates include dedication to teaching, interest in scholarship, and efforts to improve faculty-student relationships. Spouses of faculty members chosen as associates must also meet certain criteria which reflect the varied roles they perform in contributing to the intellectual events went to DEBORAH J. HOFFMAN, a senior from Waldwick, N.J.; ROBERT B. LAVERY, a senior from Haddonfield, N.J.; CHRISTOPHER WYSOCKI, a junior from Danville; LINDA J. NUNAN, a senior from Souderton; KEITH A. KAISER, a senior from New Holland, and the LYCOMING COLLEGE CONCERT CHOIR.

Other students cited included PAUL E. HOFFMAN, a senior from Shrewsbury, and HENRY G. KNERR, a senior from Coopersburg, who shared the Walter G. McIver Award; STANLEY A. SMITH, a senior, of 736½ High Street, Williamsport, the Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants Award; JAMES D. ANDERMAN, a senior from Lancaster, the Wall Street Journal Award; BRIAN LEONARD, a senior, of 432 Glenwood Avenue, Williamsport, Arena Theatre Performance Award; SHEILA A. ZENT, a senior from Taneytown, Md., the Arena Theatre Technical Award; NANCY G. GOETZ, a junior from Tobowa, N.J., and CATHY L. THOMPSON, a junior of 1438 Catherine Street, Williamsport, Women of Lycoming Scholarships. HOFFMAN also was the recipient of the Civic Choir Award.

Three students and an administrator were also cited by the Student Association of Lycoming College for meritorious achievement. Receiving the President's Award were ELIZABETH A. COGLEY, a senior from Aaroadtsville; MISS SCHADLER and KAISER. Honored in recognition of the assistance he had given to S.A.L.C. was JACK C. BUCKLE, dean of student services.

Dedication of the Arrow, the Lycoming College yearbook, normally made during the Honors Convocation, was previously announced when the yearbooks were recently distributed. The dedication was made to a member of the dining room staff for the second consecutive year when MRS. LARUE R. HELM, of 601 Mulberry Street, Williamsport, was cited for her "love and friendship" of students and her "cheerful disposition."

Dr. Blumer congratulates Pat Cerillo, winner of the Chieftain Award.

Dutch Burch with Lynn Martin, Pocahontas award winner, and Randy Parsons who received the Tomahawk Award.

Three area United Methodist ministers have been appointed as chaplains to United Methodist students at Lycoming College with the concurrence and cooperation of the ministers' local parishes, it was announced recently by Jack C. Buckle, dean of student services.

Appointed to provide pastoral counseling to the Lycoming students and also to assist the college in developing a campus ministry are the Rev. David L. Reed, pastor of the Fairview United Methodist Church; the Rev. James Grubb, pastor of First United Methodist Church, and the Rev. Derwood Strunk, pastor of Pine Street United Methodist Church. The Rev. Mr. Reed will also serve as the campus ministry coordinator.

Buckle said the united campus ministry to be developed and supported by the college will seek to provide continuing opportunities for students to maintain and strengthen their traditional religious ties during their four years in college.

A generous Easter Bunny dispenses goodies to eager youngsters on the new Pine Street Mall in downtown Williamsport. (Adults please note: The Easter Bunny is really Cathy Colella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Colella, of Flemington, N.J., and a Lycoming freshman.)

Approximately 120 high school students, parents and guidance counselors attended the first "Consumer's Guide to Four-Year Colleges." The forum was sponsored jointly by the Lycoming County Counselors Association and the College, and Robert J. Glunk, college registrar, served as chairman. He reported that those attending gave the program high marks.

L to R: Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Robinson and Richard C. Robinson, of Middletown, PA; Mr. Glenn D. Minick, Kathryn S. Minick and Mrs. Minick, of Newburg, PA, and Frank J. Kamus, Director of Admissions. Richard and Kathryn were among nineteen selected high school seniors and their parents who were invited to participate in Lycoming's Scholar Week End Program in March.

and cultural advancement of the college and community.

Two students and a member of the faculty at Lycoming College have had art work accepted for exhibit in the 1977 Regional Artists Awards Exhibition held at The Arnot Art Museum, Elmira, N.Y.

ROGER D. SHIPLEY, associate professor of art and chairman of the art department, received an award for a print accepted for exhibition. CONNIE WELLNITZ, a junior art major from Cranbury, N.J., had a photograph and monoprint accepted, and NANCY DEPEW, a senior art major from Plainfield, N.J., exhibited a water color.

DAVID G. BUSEY, professor emeritus of physical education and former director of athletics at Lycoming College, has been elected to the Helms Foundation Hall of Fame for Athletic Directors, it was announced recently by Stan Marshall, president of the National Association of Collegiate Athletic Directors.

Busey, of 1151 Market Street, Williamsport, will be inducted into the national shrine with 14 others from throughout the United States on Monday, June 20, at the annual NACAD convention in Las Vegas, Nev. The ceremony will be held at a luncheon in Caesar's Palace.

Dr. MICHAEL G. ROSKIN, assistant professor of political science at Lycoming College, is the author of a political science textbook entitled Other Governments in Europe recently published by Prentice Hall, Inc., as part of the Contemporary Comparative Politics Series.

The book traces the political and economic developments of five European countries seldom treated by textbooks in comparative politics, including the countries of Sweden, Spain, Italy, Yugoslavia and East Germany. Much of the research material for the book was compiled during a travel grant provided by Lycoming College which enabled the author to visit Europe in 1974.

Dr. JAMES R. JOSE, academic dean of Lycoming College, has been awarded an honorary membership in the school's Xi Pi Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity, for his outstanding communal service.

CHRISTINE E. UPDEGRAFF, a 1975 graduate of Lycoming College, has been named field hockey coach at her alma mater.

Miss Updegraff is a graduate of Williamsport High School and resides at Montoursville, R.D.2. She was a member of the Warrior field hockey team for three seasons and served as the team co-captain in her senior year. She was also active in the Student Association of Lycoming College, the Women's Athletic Association, and served as a student representative on the General Committee on Academic Affairs. The new coach succeeds Mrs. Virginia Kieser, who resigned at the end of the 1976 season.

CLASS news

Edited by DALE V. BOWER '59

1918

CHARLES BOLLINGER is confined to "The Methodist Home", 8 North Goodman St., Rochester, NY 14607. He suffered a stroke last April.

1936

MOLLY MALKIN LOBEL was the guest speaker for a Passover meeting at the Ohav Shalom Synagogue Center in Williamsport. Molly is a member of the national board and is national leadership development chairman of Hadassah. She lives in Park Hills.

1948

A recent note from CARL D. BAUER brought the following information for class notes: To wit, Carl is now living in Munich, functioning (more or less) as a sort of curriculum coordinator for the U. S. Army Drug & Alcohol Program in Germany. He notes that his office window faces the snow-covered alps, which may account for the obtuse job description. He further denies any significant recent awards, promotions, publications, or other attention-getting maneuvers. To be brutally frank, he is just quite simply enjoying a hedonistic existence of enough work, a lot of play, watching the family grow and follow the leader.

1949

R. ANDREW LADY, director of institutional relations and assistant to the president of Lycoming College has been granted a terminal leave by the College and since February 20th, has been on a special assignment for the United Methodist Church as an administrative consultant to the Alaska Methodist University. Andy was granted terminal leave after the position of assistant to the president, a post which he has held since 1957, was recently eliminated by action of the executive committee of the board of trustees. The position was terminated upon the recommendation of Dr. Frederick E. Blumer, President, as part of a proposed reorganization plan for the college administration. Andy will officially end his association with the College at the end of the current fiscal year on June 30.

1950

TALENTED ALUMNI PERFORM

Two alumni returned to the campus within a few days of each other to present winning performances on the stages of Clarke Chapel and the Arena Theatre.

In Clarke Chapel, Marianna Ciraulo '57, soprano, gave the first presentation in the "Walter G. McIver Recital Series" on March 15. Her program included Spanish and Russian numbers as well as selections from Verdi's "Macbeth" and Puccini's "Madame Butterfly." The recital series was established to honor Lycoming's Professor Emeritus of Music, Walter G. McIver, who retired from the faculty last year.

In the Arena Theatre on March 18, Garret Tinsman presented "An Evening with Dylan Thomas." The performance was the culmination of six years' work by Garret to master the unique physical presence, vocal inflection and compelling emotional character of Dylan, the greatest lyric poet of the century. His show has been seen by academic and professional audiences in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Class of '69 Placement Files

The Career Development Center, formerly known as the Placement Office, will be disposing of the credential files of the class of 1969 during the summer of 1977.

Under the Educational Amendment Act of 1974 (Buckley Amendment) alumni are not privy to recommendations written prior to January 1, 1975. Alumni who wish to obtain the remaining contents of their placement folders are requested to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Career Development Center, in care of Lycoming College.

Class of '69 alumni who are actively seeking employment may wish to contact the Career Development Center so that their files may be retained. These files should also be up-dated.

WANTED: One copy of the 1961 ARROW. If you have an extra, please notify the Alumni Office. It will be greatly appreciated.

Lycoming College Chairs

Made of northern yellow birch, Lycoming College chairs are durable, comfortable and attractive. They are finished in black with gold trim and the Seal of the College has been applied to the back by a permanent silk-screen process. Also available, in addition to the Boston rocker, is an adult arm chair. The arm chair (but not the Boston rocker) can also be ordered with natural cherry arms.

Please use the order form to place your order. The company manufacturing the chairs will no longer ship to a residential or business address. Chairs may be picked up on Campus in the Alumni office 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. (closed noon to 1:00 p.m. for lunch). Saturday pick-up on Homecoming or Commencement Weekends only by special arrangement. Please enclose check payable to Lycoming College with your order. Prices quoted are for chairs in stock. Increases in price may charge. Questions may be directed to the Alumni Office by calling 717-326-1951, ext. 220.
